

RAY OF HOPE

ONLINE EXTRA

For video of the ceremony, go to our website at www.thewhig.com. Click on the Childhood Cancer Awareness link on our home page.

Michael Lea/The Whig-Standard

As staff and guests gather at the old front entrance to Kingston General Hospital for yesterday's ceremony by the pediatric oncology service to kick off Childhood Cancer Awareness Month, four-year-old Megan Cross, who is being treated for leukemia at the hospital, draws a bright sun in chalk on the sidewalk as a message of encouragement for all other children living with cancer.